

We tried to collect some useful information for handicapped tourists about Budapest hotels. Unfortunately, not every hotel follows guidelines, and many times hotels that advertise themselves as "handicap-friendly" are in fact quite difficult to navigate by wheelchair. It is quite common that while the rooms and the elevators are well equipped, a few steps at the hotel entrance might still complicate the handicapped guest's stay.

- Hotel Alfa Art - 2 rooms (double). The entire building is suitable (ramps, elevators, etc.)
- Club Hotel Ambra - Entrance and the elevators are accessible. The rooms have bathtubs, but not specifically designed for this purpose.
- Hotel Andr ssy - There is a special restroom in the hall to accommodate handicapped people. No special rooms however.
- Hotel Anna - 1 room for 2 people - restroom, shower and the room is easily accessible.
- Hotel Aquarius - 1 room for 2 people - on the ground floor, tailored to EU recommendations.
- Hotel Aquincum - 4 rooms (doubles) - Designed for handicapped guests, the restroom and bathtub are accessible. The rooms are on the first floor, close to the elevator.
- Art'otel - 1 room for 2 people - No doorsill, the room is accessible and appropriately designed.
- Hotel Baross - No specific room for this purpose, but the doors and the elevators are accessible.
- Hotel B ke Radisson - 1 room for 2 people. Same size as the other rooms, but the doors and the restroom are specially designed. The entire hotel is accessible.
- Hotel Bencz r - The entire hotel is accessible, although no special rooms exist. Upon request, they provide a larger room and remove the bathroom door.
- Hotel Benta - The hotel is accessible, but no special rooms.
- Hotel Budapest - The hotel and the room is accessible, but the bathroom is not.
- Hotel Burg - Not suitable.
- Hotel Carlton - Not suitable.
- Hotel CEU Residence - 3 rooms (double). The bathroom, and the switches are designed for handicapped accessibility. The building and the elevators also follow regulations.
- Hotel Charles - Not suitable.

- Grand Hotel Margitsziget - 5 rooms (doubles). Special rooms, all doubles. The hotel is accessible and has ramps, handrails, etc.
- Thermal Hotel Helia - 5 rooms, single. Single rooms (not with Danube view) that can be combined with double rooms. Everything is according to regulations.
- Hotel Holiday Inn - 1 room, single. Can be combined with another room. The hotel is built according to regulations.
- Grand Hotel Hung-ria - No special rooms, but the hotel is accessible (but a bit difficult).
- Hotel Inter-Continental - 2 rooms, singles. On the road front, but they are completely according to regulations.
- Hotel Kalvin H-z - Elevator is available, the rooms are large enough, but there is doorsill, so it is not the most ideal in this regard.
- Corvinus Hotel Kempinski - 3 rooms, doubles. Accessible hotel and the rooms are suitable (on the 3rd, 4th, and 5th storeys).
- LeÛ PanziÛ - No specially designed rooms, but there is enough space.
- Hotel Liget - Not suitable. Wheelchair will not fit in the door.
- Thermal Hotel Margitsziget - 4 rooms, doubles. Specially designed double rooms. The hotel has ramps, handrails, etc.
- City Hotel M-ty-s - Not suitable. Not recommended for those who have difficulty moving about, since the building is not designed with this in mind. Additionally, it is a historical monument so it cannot be refitted for these needs.
- Hotel Mediterr-n - No special rooms, they usually give a larger room.
- Hotel Normafa - No special rooms, the doors are too small.
- Hotel Papillon - 1 room, double. The room is not specially designed, but it is wheelchair accessible.
- Hotel Queenmary - 1 room, double. No special room, but the ground floor rooms have been used by handicapped and they have all been satisfied.
